

WOMEN'S RIGHTS LEADERS STORM BRITISH CABINET

London Suffragettes Ring the Doorbells of Members and Speak from Stoops.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Having failed to reach King Edward yesterday during the ceremonies of the opening of Parliament, and as the House of Commons is effectively barred against them, the women suffragists of England to-day adopted a new method of protesting against the fact that the King, in his speech from the throne, made no mention of their demands to be permitted to vote.

The militant members of the organization formed themselves into several committees, which, at the same hour to-day, visited the homes of the various members of the Cabinet for the purpose of asking them to use their influence to have the question of women's suffrage settled at this session.

As none of the Ministers would see them, the women resorted to ringing doorbells and delivering addresses from doorsteps.

The police were unprepared for this course of action and noisy scenes were witnessed on several of the fashionable thoroughfares of London.

The women eventually were dispersed after seven arrests had been made.

FOUND MAN OF 104 LOST IN STREETS

Police Hold Samuel Hepstein Till Relatives Call for Him.

Samuel Hepstein, who says he is one hundred and four years old, and looks as though he were telling the truth, is held by the police of the Liberty avenue station, Brooklyn, until he can remember where he lives or until his relatives call for him.

The old man was found last night in Sackman street, Brownsville, by two women after he had lost his way. He said he was walking to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ida Silverstein, who lives in Sackman street, but he couldn't remember the number.

The women took him to Carl Wippenman's drug store at No. 409 Fulton street, and there the druggist's fox terriers assailed the aged man's pockets and got away with several scraps of bread they found there.

When Mr. Hepstein was taken to the station-house he amused the bluecoats with several Russian songs, and even essayed to dance for their edification. He said he was in fine health, which was found by Dr. Murphy, of St. Mary's Hospital, to be true.

Mr. Hepstein ate his bread scraps and several apples the police gave him, but refused to let them send out and get him a full meal. His relatives were expected to call for him to-day.
